- Read the famous poem Daffodils by William Wordsworth below and attempt to answer the questions that follow.

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced; but they
Out-did the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company:
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

1. How do we know that the poet was a lover of nature in Daffodils?
2. Can you find an example of personification in stanza one and in stanza two?

3. How do we know that the poet is alone in the poem?
4. 'Continuous as the stars that shine.' This is an example of a simile. A comparison using 'as'. What do you think the poet is trying to tell us about the daffodils when he compares them to the stars?
5. Did you enjoy the poem? Describe why.

- More work on perimeter and also area.
- Remember perimeter is calculated by adding up the length all around the outside of a shape.
- Area is calculated by multiplying the length by the height of a shape.
- Try and find the perimeter and area of the following. It might help to draw them out.
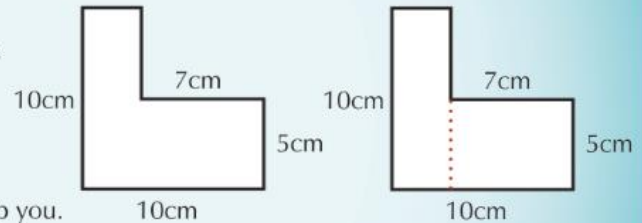

Area of irregular shapes

Can you find the following measurements
of this shape without using your ruler?

Width: ___ cm, Length: ___ cm

Perimeter: ___ cm, Area: ___ cm²

This diagram has some hints that may help you.

- Please find the perimeter of the three above shapes first and then calculate their area. To calculate their area you will need to divide them up into smaller rectangles, work out the area of the smaller rectangles and add them together.

- There are extra worksheets for area and perimeter available in the folder that you can either print and complete or view on your device and complete in your copy.
