Wednesday

English: This week we are going to revise Report writing. You are going to write a report on any animal you like. Use the template below as a guide. Remember a macro sentence is an introductory sentence explaining the animal. The 3 paragraphs could go into more detail on things like appearance, habitat, food, types, young. NPPN stands for noun, pronoun, pronoun, noun. Example would be Dogs are, They are, They are, Dogs are.

Maths: This week I want you to have a look at some revision activities based on 3D shapes. Use the internet to research any answers that you cannot remember.

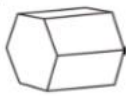

B Do it!

1. Name each of these shapes

(b)

(c)

(d)

(e)

(f)

(g)

2. Describe the shapes' properties under these headings:

(a) Number of sides

(b) Number of faces

(c) Type of faces

(d) Number of edges

(e) Number of vertices

(f) Is it a polyhedron?

C solve it! What is it?

1. It has 12 edges, 6 faces and 8 vertices. The faces are squares.
2. It has 12 edges, 6 faces and 8 vertices. It has 6 rectangular faces.
3. It has 2 edges and 2 faces. The two faces are circles.
4. It has 9 edges and 5 faces. It has 6 vertices. The faces are 3 rectangles and 2 triangles.
5. It has 8 edges, 5 faces and 5 vertices. The faces are 4 isosceles triangles and 1 square.
6. It has 6 edges, 4 faces and 4 vertices. The faces are all equilateral triangles.

Fill in the missing words.

1. _____ are 3D shapes that have triangles for faces although the base might not be a triangle.
2. A _____ is a 3D shape with 4 faces, all of which are triangles.
3. _____ are 3D shapes where the cross-sections are the same and each cross-section is a regular shape.
4. A _____ is a 2D shape with an equal number of sides and vertices.
5. _____ are 3D shapes with straight edges, flat surfaces and polygons for faces.
6. A _____ of a 3D shape is a 2D arrangement that can be cut out and folded to make a shape.
